Unexpected Developments in the Trial of the Famous O'Shea Suit for Divorce.

Counsel for Respondent Declines to Take any Part in the Proceedings.

LONDON, Nov. 15 .- The trial of the O'Shea ivorce case opened in the Divorce Court this morning. A large audience was present to presided. A special jury had been impannelled to try the case. Messrs. Clark, Inderwick, Lewis and Coward appeared for O'Shea, the plaintiff, and Messrs. Lockwood and Pritchard for Mrs. O'shea, the respondent, and Mr. McCall for Mrs Steele, sister of Mrs. O'Shea, against whom there is a countercharge of adultery with Capt. O'shea. Mr. Parnell, the corespondent, was not represented by counsel. Capt. and was the only prominent figure present. petitioner. He said that as he understood the mitted adultery as did also the responden t. The respondent, he said, in addition to her ienial further alleged that the petitioner had connived at her adultery; had wilfully separ ated himself from her and was guilty of unreasonable delay in bringing the action against her.

THE DEPENSE ABANDONED. Mrs. O'Shea's counsel said he did not intend to cross-examine any witnesses nor call any witness in behalf of Mrs. O'Shea nor take any part in the proceedings. An immense sensation was caused by this anent. at the action of the defense conemns Mr. Parnell to very heavy costs.

The course pursued by Mr. Lockwood of counsel for Mrs. O'Shea in abandoning all inention to either cross-examine or call witterially altered the position of the famous case. Mr. Clarke of the counsel for Capt. O'Shea, in calling attention to the changed omplexion of affairs, said that the prosect ion found itself in court with neither repondent nor corespondent to participate in he conduct of a defense.

Mr. Justice Butt here remarked: "The sitation is quite new to me," and asked, 'Does any one appear for Mr. Parnell?'

'I have inquired,' responded Mr. Clark, but find that no one appears for him. It is,

Continuing, he said that in the interests of his client and in view of the remarkable pleadings it would be necessary to prove the setitioner's case by sufficient evidence. The etition for a divorce, he said, was filed in December last. Mr. Parnell had then put in a mple denial of the Chicago adultery. O'Shea did not content her with a denial, but charges against her husband, lleging that he had committed adultery with number of different persons including her wn sister, Mrs. Steele. She also charged im with crueity and with having connived t ber adultery for a period extending over a series of years. The plea almost amounted to a confession of adultery. The husband was cruelly annoved at the efendant's charges, but he (Clarke) would be able absolutely to disprove every possible the charge of connivance was groundless: hat when O'Shea first heard of the intimacy between his wife and Parnell he challenged That continuous acts of adultery had been rould placed be beyond doubt. Witnesses prove that while the respondent wa visiting in Bedford Square she was visited by Parnell, who went under the name of Smith. At another house he visited her as Mr. Stuart, On one occasion he had to escape by a balcony avoid detection by O'Shea.

He did not wonder at Mr. Parnell's refusal to answer charges of faithseness and faisehood and betrayal of the riendship of the man who was trusting him. was then introduced to Mr. Parnell, who being one of the party. Nothing excited Capt O'shea's suspicion until 1881, when Mr. Parnell visited the respondent at Eitham. His an noyance over Mr. Parnell's approaches to his wife led Capt. O'Shea to send a challenge to Mr. Parnell. Mrs. Steele saw Parnell, who ssured her that there was no ground for lealous suspicions. O'Shea wrote to Parnell and the latter replied that he had answered hrough the assurances he had given Mrs. teele. Afterwards affectionate relations between O'Shea and his wife were continued and Parnell was again invited to Eitham. In 1882, after Parnell had been released from Kilmanham Jall, he renewed his visits to Eitham and almost habitually slept there. Parnell used to drive from Par to Eitham and Mrs. O'Shea would come down stairs to meet him when he arrived. Some-

"I estimate the total number of tons moved one mile annually by this group of roads to be 16,000,000,000. The auditor of one of these roads has furnished me a statement showing the difference between the rates under the 'Presidents' Arcement' and the present rates, which amounts to a decrease of 4 mills per ton per mile. The greatest recovery was in Lackawanna—4½. The recovery in the others was much less marked. The market closed excited and unsettled.

The facts in regard to the extraordinary monetary situation which has prevailed in London for the past ten days may be summed London for the past ten days may be summed up as follows:

Owing to the extent of their operations in railroads and land in South America the Messret Baring have been more or less embarrassed for over six months. It was not thought that it was serious owing to the reputation of the firm in respect to lis resources and in respect to nearly a century of the most successful conduct of the banking business upon a high and honest base, which has given the house a world-wide reputation equal almost to that of the Bank of England itself.

has given the house a world-wide reputation equal almost to that of the Bank of England itself.

On last Thursday week the Messrs. Baring, at the conclusion of business, decided that it was impossible for them to continue. On Friday morning, the 7th inst., they so notified the directors of the Bank of England, who immediately convened and, as will be recalled, startled the whole financial world by raising the rate. The proceeding was almost unprecedented and called a hat in speculation at every money center in the world. The present week has been one of the most painful suspense in banking circles, and this feeling has been reflected in a minor degree in New York, where only a few of the more important houses having European connections have been aware of the real nature of the difficulty in Loadon.

The publication of the circular inviting influential representatives of Western and Southwestern railroads to a conference at the residence of J. Pierrepont Morgan in this city has been deferred for a day or two out of deference so some of the manazers of the railroads affected. They think they can effect the necessary agreement and reforms without the interference of New York bankers. It scarcely need be said that the New York capitalists whose investments are at stake regard that notion with a good deal of skepticism. Mr. George Magoun; chairman of the Board of Directors of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa fe Railroad, and a member of the firm of Kidder, Peabody & Co., said yesterday that the whole matter of the proposed agreement between the great railroad systems west of Chicago was in statu quo. About 2 o'clock last Wednesday afternoon of Mrs. V. K. McMillan and said that she was to find the residence of and Mrs. John Andrews. They lived, she thought, on Olive street only two or three blocks from the car stables, but she had hunted all over that neighprhood and could not find them. The woman looked worn out and in distress, and Mrs. Mc-Millan invited her into the house. The invitation was gladly accepted, and she has been there ever since. Mrs. McMilian has become very much interested in the girl's welfare and is doing all she can to find her uncle and aunt for her.

"She lived near Kirkwood," said Mrs. McMillan this morning, "about six miles from the town and left home, because she couldn't get along with her stepfather. I den't remember what his name is, but her name is Lou Faule, and she says she is 19 years old. Mrs. Josle Andrews, her aunt, who lives here in St. Louis, wrote to her some time ago, she says, to come to St. Louis and live with her if she couldn't get along with her step-father, and so she started out last Tuesony morning with her step-father, and so she started out last Tuesony morning with two baskets of clothing in time to catch the accommodation train that reaches the city about 8 o'clock. She asked some man whom she took to be a policeman or sa employe of the depot company how she should go to find the Olive street cable line, and he volunteered to show her. He first took her into the ladies' waiting-room, where upon his advice she deposited her two baskets of clothing, intending to send for them afterwards, and then started out with with her guide for the cable line. He took her, she says, to within about a block of the road and then pointed it out to ber and bade her good-bye, saying he would have to hurry back to the depot. He had brass buttons on his coat and reading matter on his cap and must have been some one permanently located at the Union Depot or connected with the rifiroads. The poor girl got on a cable car, and after being put off at the car stables or power-house, spent five or six hours in tramping around and hunting for her uncles. She is now working for me and I will keep her until we hear from her relatives. She is about 19 years old and appears to be a very nice girl. She says her mother pays two visits a week to Kirkwood to sell butter and eggs. They live shout two miles from fhe nearest railroad station. I found after questioning her that she used to live with Mrs. Reese of Kirkwood. I have been to the Union Depot with her come very much interested in the girl's welfare and is doing all she can to

John Andrews: I am in the city and can't find you. Call at once at 2639 Olive street. Your nicee, Lou Paule.

Miss Paule interviewed.

The reporter afterwards had an interview with Miss Paule at Mrs. McMilian's residence, No. 253 Olive street, when the story of her troubles as related by Mrs. McMilian, were confirmed. She was suffering from a severe cold and headache, and seemed to be very mage distressed at her inability to find her relatives. She was plainly but neatily dressed, and her face, which was quite pretty, and conversation and manners generally indicated that she was a country girl of more than average intelligence. She told her story in an open, straightforward way, but there were one or two statements in it that need clearing up. Her stepfather and mother live on a farm, she said, six miles west of Kirkwood, and about two miles from a station called Cairo, on the Missouri Pacific Railroad, and the Meramec River is, she claimed, about fifteen miles west of their farm. The Missouri Pacific officials say that there is no station on their road of that name and none that, so far as they know, is or ever was called Cairo by any of the farmers or other inhabitants of St. Louis County. Miss Paule said the station had a couple of grocery stores and two or three other houses and that a hack ran from there into the country past their farm. The trains very seldom stopped there, but there was a couple of grocery stores and two or three other houses and that a back ran from there into the country past their farm. The trains very seldom stopped there, but there was a switch, and the piace was certainly called Cairo and she never heard any other name for it. When asked hew far she lived from the Meramec River, she answered that that river was fifteen miles west of them. She knew the river ran only a short distance from Kirkwood, but the nearest point her uncle's farm was from it was fifteen miles, two statements which are, to say the least, very inconsistent. Nor did she she seem to know that the Missouri Pacific Railroad runs west along or mear the Meramec River for twenty miles and more from Barret's Station, the first station west of Kirkwood, and that if her uncle's farm is within two miles of the railroad and only six miles west of Kirkwood, it can't be more than three miles from the river.

ATTHE UNION DEPOT.

Miss Paule seems to be very clear in most of only six miles west of Kirkwood, it can't be more than three miles from the river.

Miss Pauls seems to be very clear in most of her statements, however, and she certainly tells ner story in a manner that indicates sincerity. "When the train stopped at the Union Depot, I followed a lady and gentleman who had taken the train at Kirkwood, intending to ask them the way to Olive street," she said. "I noticed, though, that they didn't go into the depot building, but went around to the side, and I thought that that wasn't the way up town and stopped a minute, not knowing what to do. Just then a man stepped up and asked me if I was lost. I said no, but that I was trying to find my aunt, and that as I had never been in the city before I didn't know which way to go. I showed him the letter my must had written me a couple of days before, and after reading it he handed it back to me and told me to follow him. He took me into a large room where there were a just of ladies and children. He carried one of my baskets and put it under a seat and I put mine on the seat and slipped the letter into the basket. He said I could leave them there till I found my aunt. Thes he took me out and showed me how to find the Olive street cable line. I thought then the man was a polloeman, and placed every confidence in what he said. He wore a blue uniform with each closely buttoned with brass buttone, and had on a uniform cap with two or three words printed on it, but I didn't notice what they were. He had a broken accest and I thought the was a German. He didn't here words printed on it, but I didn't notice what they were. He had a broken accest and I thought in war german. He didn't have any beard or mustache and I think he was of medium size and about 55 years old, though I didn't notice him very particularly. He had dark hair; I remember that."

particularly. He had dark hair; I remember that."

The buskets were of the common split basket kind and the clothing consisted mostly of underclothes and two or three working dresses. Nothing was marked, except the handkerchiefs, which had been stamped with her initials, "L. P." by hirs. Reese, with whom she used to work at Kirkwood. The Reese family moved to Weir, kan, about four months ago. Miss Paule has three brethers and two sisters, all older than herself. The brothers live, she says, in respectively Denver, Colo.; Ironwood, Mich. and Belleville Ill., and her two sisters at Peplar Bluff and Little Rock, Ark. Her step-father's name is John Merkins and he was married to her mother four years ago. Thuy have a large farm, about 300 acres. Miss Paule was never in St. Louis before except when passing through the city from Desoio many years ago.

After Many Years.

Nine-tenths of the applicants for divorce begin suits within three years after the solemn words of the marriage service are spoken. One-half of the remainder have endured less than five years of marital unhappiness. These statements would be strongly negatived by a review of the divorce cases on the docket of the St. Louis Circuit Court for the December term. There was one case filed a wece or two ago in which the parties had lived together for thirty-fours years. In no caselfiled within the past week have the parties lived together for less than five years. There were four very long term cases filed yesterday. George A. Bowman was married to Jennie E. in New York in 1864. Mary Winkelman married Bernard in 1865. Caroline Glass married Henry in 1865. Elizabeth Mathilda Burg married Louis in 1869. Judge Klein overruled a motion for a new trial in the case of Wm. O. Schafer vs. Maria Pope. The defendant employed the plaintiff to prepare plans and specifications for a to prepare plans and specifications for a house to cost not more than $4,500. He prepared plans for a house that osuld not be built for less than $5,800. He was instructed to cut it down and did so. Bids were taken. There was one for $5,400 and another for $4,395. The latter bid was accepted. It afterward transpired that the lowest bidder had made a mistake of $1,000. He intended to bid $5,395. Mrs. Pope endeavored to persuade him to go on with the work and offered him $4,895, but he refused to go on. Judge Klein decides that if Mrs. Pope was natisfied that the bidder had made a mistake she was not bound to commit a fraud in endeavaring to hold the bidder on such a bid. The result showed that the house could not be constructed for $4,500, and the plaintiff never contracted to pay the defendant for plans for a house to cost over $4,500. He entered os the task with that understanding, and never fulfilled the terms of the contracts.

SHE IDESTIFIED HIM.

ames Mason, the Man Who Robbed Miss Lizzie Krebbs, Arrested. About 8:30 o'clock last night Detectives Mc

Grath and O'Connell arrested James Mason a the corner of Sixth and Elm streets and place him in the holdover at the Four Courts on suspicion. This morning Miss Lizzie Krebbs positively identified the prisoner as the mar who on the evening of July 15 last picked he pocket of a purse containing $1.35 in money and some papers of no value to any person other than herself. It seems that Miss Krebbs, who is head saleslady in a down-town retail house, boarded the Washington avenue car at Sixth street. On the platform she felt that she was in a jam. Then a young man at her side grabbed her purse from her pocket, jumped from the car and escaped.

The police have been looking for Mason ever since. About a week after this theft Mason, Tom O'Conneil, George Cessira and another well-known St. Louis thief went with a party of prominent local Democrats to a raily at Carlinville, Ill. The gang attempted to pick Mr. Paul Bierman's pocket in the crowd without success. Mr. Bierman obtained a good view of the thieves and recognized them on board the train when near East St. Louis on the return. O'Conneil and Cossira were caught and given into the hands of the East 8t. Louis police, while Mason and the fourth man escaped by jumping. On Nov. Il, O'Conneil and Cessira broke jail at Carlinville where they were confined awaiting trial. It now appears that a short time pocket of a purse containing $1.35 in money

The meeting was largely attended and the subject thoroughly discussed. A committee composed of one member from each shipping point was appointed to prepare a statement to be laid before the Interstate Commission.
The statistics of the protest will show the length of time each firm has been in business

TAKEN TO TEXAS.

Peter Lippes Will Have to Answer Two Very Serious Charges.

Deputy Sheriff W. D. Druse arrived in St Louis this morning from San Antonio, Tex., for the purpose of taking charge of one Peter Lippes, who is under arrest at this point. Lippes was apprehended almost a week ago. On receipt of a telegram from San Antonio Detective Frese went to the residence of Louis Lippes at $10 South Main street and took the man into custody. Lippes is under indictment at San Antonio on the two charges of kidnapping and embezziement. It appears from his statement that his wife had in her charge the 6-year-old son of Henry Broat. When they left Texas they brought the boy with them. The father than caused their arrest, alleging in addition that Lippes has made away with $20 of his money. The child appeared perfectly well satisfied with the Lippes, and the prevailing opinion as the Four Courts is greatly in favor of the prisoner. The little fellow has been in the charge of Police Matron Harris, and will be returned to San Antonio with Lippes to-night or to-morrow morning.

THE MAYOR'S SIGNATURE.

WHY IT WAS NOT AFFIXED TO THE "EVEN-ING CALL'S" BOND.

Mr. Walker Made Every Endeaver to Have the Mayor Sign It and the Mayor's Refusal Looks Queer in the Light of Subsequent Developments-Still Have Hope-The Twelfth Street Bridge.

The bond of the Evening Call is still unsigned by the Mayor, and now the proceedings are injunction filed against the Mayor and the City Register. The circumstances of the case are somewhat peculiar, inasmuch as the actions of Mayor Noonan are rather queer. Yesterday Mr. Walker, the business manager of the Call, secured the signatures of all the city officials except the Mayor. There were no obstacles in the way of securing these but when it became necessary to get the name of the Mayor it was a very different thing. Repeated visits to the Mayor's office brough out each time that the Mayor was not at his office. At his residence Mr. Walker was treated with scant courtesy, and refused an audience, he being told that the Mayor was sick. The sickness, however, was not sufficient to keep him away from a meeting of the Mercantile Club, last night, nor from visiting his office bond to the Mayor's office this morning, but by some process or other it was delayed at the Mayor's office so that the injunction notices could get there first. The Mayor was asked this morning if he had signed the bond and he said he had not. A few moments later Secretary Brennan brought the notices into City Coursellor Bell, whe told him to inform the Mayor that all further proceedings in the matter of signing the bond must be stopped. The application for an injunction is the work of Gitcheil, who does not want the Call to get the contract. The Mayor's failure to sign the bond is perfectly in keeping with the desires of Gitcheil, and at present it looks very much like cooperation.

The Merz garbage reducers have not yet given up hope and are still trying to bring the Council into line on their contract. They are put into execution two plans, which may be spect to have a good effect. One and stay. The state of composed in part of metal. The duty part of the teriff act of March, 1833. The Twelfth Street Bridge. Commissioner Murphy was in consultation to-day with Mr. Carl Gaylor, the engineer in charge of the bridges and culverts in the lumbermen of the Mississippi Valley was held here yesterday to thwart the designs of a powerful lumber trust recently organized at Eau Claire, Wis. Several years ago a system of classification of freight rates was adopted with a view to equalizing cost to the various competing points, and this arrangement has been satisfactory. But the new trust; has gone before the leterstate Commerce Commission with a petition asking for the same rate as Minneapolis. If this petition were granted it would work a hardship at every other point on the river, hence a vigorous protest will be flied by the dealers along the lower river.

The meeting was largely attended and the much wider than the present roadway. The Twenty-first street bridge now being erected will be taken as a model to some extent. Commissioner Murphy estimates that a bridge adequate for the business that will concentrate along Twelfth street for the next twenty years can be built for $200,000. The erection of the City Hall on Washington square will precipitate the building of a new bridge to take the place of the one now there.

Caused by an Overflow. Two days ago it was reported that there was a leak at the southeast corner of the Compton Hill Reservoir. It was not a leak ton Hill Reservoir. It was not a leak but the report and the subsequent investigation led to a discovery of a rather surprising and unusual fact. At one corner of the huge tank there is an overflow drain from which a three-inch sewer pipe is laid underground to the street some distance away. The water instead of passing through this pipe has been coming up through the ground, leaving it moist and soggy. An investigation was made yesterday and to-day seventy-five feet of new pipe is being put dows. For a distance of over fifty feet the three-inch clay pipe was completely filled with a mat of roots, which had erept through the joints and grown inside the pipe. A section four feet long was taken out and brought to Commissioner Holman's office. It looks like one of the cables used to fasten steamboats with and the fibers are so matted and interwoven that it is a simest impossible to tear them apart. The joints of the new pipes will all be cemented.

To Beach a Conclusion Next Week. The Council Committee on Public Improvements listened for two hours and a haif yesterday to various arguments on the subject of pumping engines. Mr. Leneen of the Holly Co., Mr. Pond of the Pond Engineering Co. and Horatio D. Wood all spoke at some length and then the committee decided te do what it should have done at the start, and that it should have done at the start, and that it should have done at the start, and that it should have done at the start, and that it should have done at the start, and that it should have done at the start, and that it should have done at the following of the Board of Public Improvements will be requested to answer briefly and pointedly a few straight questions bearing directly upon the subject under consideration. An effort will be made to relieve the affair of that personal and contradictory tone it has assumed in the last two meetings. The commistee now has a pile of manuscript a foot high, which is made up mainly or contradictions filed by the various interested parties.

It is expected that by Friday next some conclusion will have been grached, but it is vary probable that the contract will be referred back to the Council without recommendation to be estilled in a meeting of the whole. nents listened for two hours and a half yes

A Sharp Struggle With Burglars at Adrian

ADRIAN. Mich., Nov. 15 .- Yesterday morning Dell Buell, agent at the Wabash Depot, was notified by telephone that the store of William Clark at Ridgeway had been robbed. He was requested to notify the officers. A little later three hard-looking parties applied for tickets to Detroit. Suspecting they were the robbers, Buell went to the residence of Deputy Sheriff Townsend, near by, and that Deputy Sheriff Townsend, near by, and that officer, with his son, accompanied the agent to the station. On their appearance the fellows draw revolvers and made a break through the door of the waiting-room. Young Townsend was knocked down by a blow from one of the wapons, while two of the fellows attacked the father, who is a strong, nervy man and more than held his own. Meanwhile the operator got his gun trom the officer and then the robbers made a retreat, emptying their pistois as they did so. Townsend and Buell responded with their weapons and pursued the crooks some little distance, but they got away. Despite the number of shots fired nobody seems to have been hit.

It is not often that the name of this firm appears in real estate reports, but when it does interesting news of general invariably follows, and in instance is develops that story, fire proof business house is to be erected on the east side of Broadway, between ive and Pine, by one of the parties, Mr. J. Gilbert Chapman, whom they sold to. The Chapman has acquired to make such important improvement upon, belonged Edward Bredell. It is known as the old Wanamaker store, having a frontage of 54 feet by a depth of 127%, and soon as pending leases on the premises have expired the old building will be torn away to make room for the most imposing structure erected so far on Broadway. This property cost Mr. Chapman $130,000, a little over $2, 400 a front foot, which thing on Broadway excepting corners.

In comparison with this transaction it may be noted that George F. Touner bought the four story building numbered 23 and 25 South Broadway with a frontage of 50 feet by a depth of 127½ for $40,000 on the 29th of last month. June 19 of this year Charles A. Spaulding bought the 8t. James Hotel property, 57 feet 8 inches by a depth of 127½, at. the southwest corner of Broadway and Wainut, for $85,000, and the premises fronting 60 feet at the northeast corner of the same atreets was purchased in February last for $100,000 by Gus Nieman. In January, 1889, the building occupying $75\times127½ at Nos. 410 and 412 North Broadway was purchased by the Washington University for $72,500, and In March of the same year Charles D. McClure bought the building fronting 25 feet by a depth of 127½, at No. 415 North Broadway, fairly suited to their locality, and are yielding at least 10 per cent net upon the purchase price. In view of these previous transactions, and the price paid by Mr. Chapman for his property, it is plain to see that Broadway values are advancing at a good pace, and that the property is appreciated by local capitalists, who are daily watching its rapid development.

In addition to this Broadway saie James M. Carpenter & Co. sold for Edward Bredell to Jacob Christopher a piece of ground fronting 123 feet by a depth of 580 on the south side of Lafayette avenue, situate between Waverly place and Missouri avenue, for $22,750.

Another piece of ground, fronting 123 feet by a depth of 855, on the south side of Lafayette avenue, in the same block, also owned by Ewd. Bredell, was sold by the same firm for $23,750 to Wm. S. The ground secured by the Elliott Co. is bounded on the north by the L., E. & St. L. (Air Line) Railway, on the east by Tenth street, on the south by Brady avenue and on the wer to ye Eighth street, and running through its center, diagonally, is the Venice & Carendelet Beit Railway, leased and controlled by the new Merchants' Bridge & Terminal Railway Co. The area of the property is 622x300 feet. It affords a total frontage of about 1,125 feet, the purchase price (or which was nearly $12 a foot. Mr. Guignon says adjoining and similarly situated property was bought last year for $5 to $6 a foot, and the certainty that the Elliott Co. is going to establish its industry on the new site insures much higher prices in that immediate locality.

PLATTSBURG, Mo., Nov. 15 .- The unfinished term of the September Circuit Court began here Tuesday. When the famous Lathrop crusade erse was called both sides answered crusade ease was called both sides answered ready. To-day the testimonies are being taken, and the court-room filled, not standing room to be found.

Mrs. Annie Carmicheai (or rather Brown) as she has had her name legally changed), pleaded guilty and paid the fine of $1. She was the wife of Rev. Carmicheai, who was granted a divorce at Chillicothe, Mo., some months since. She was also the leader of the crusade. Three others pleaded guilty and were fined a lacoth. The rest, seventy-four in number, who were indicted stood in a body and will fight it through the courts. It will take several days to get the evidence in and will be a bitter fight on both sides.

Gov. Johnson of St. Louis, and Thomas J. Proctor standa armed with every point of law to defend their clients, while John A. Cross has his sleeves rolled up to his elbows ready to fight the fight in law for the split whisky and the broken beer bottles. The ladies all through the court by the dozen in a group.

Attacked by a Dog.

Alexander Schnure was found by his wife at n the rear of his residence, 3855 Garfield avenue. He had tied the rope to a rafter of the shed and had placed the noose around his neck. When discovered he was dead. Schuure was 62 years of age and was a native of Germany. He had been in poor health for some time, and this is supposed to have been the time, and this is supposed to have been the year-old child, sick and destitute in the rear of 1738 North Eleventh street. The case is a worthy ens.

RICE LOCKED UP.

The Young Man Charged With Criminal As-JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 15 .- Wm. Rice who is charged with a criminal assault on Miss Abbie Gount, who lives in Calloway County, opposite this city, came in from Mi ier County last night with his father and surrendered to the authorities here, and is not locked up awaiting the arrival of Calloway County officials. The assault, as charged, was County officials. The assault, as charged, was committed over two weeks ago. The huns for Rice was so vigorous that it would have been all most impossible for him to have escaped. When interviewed by your correspondent this morning he admitted his identity and that he had been in the girl's company, but desied the crime. He is a good-looking young man, but is very careful about what he says. Miss Gount is a very popular young lady and is highly connected. There is a good deal of bitter feeling against Rice and fear has been expressed that he may be lynched to-night if taken across the river.

The St. Boniface Dramatic Club will give an entertainment and hop to-morrow evening at St. Boniface Hall. The programme is quite lengthy and a varied one.

The regival services which have been held at the Carendelet M. E. Church, under the supervision of Pastor B. F. Thom as, during the week have been very successful. Ben Deering and Miss Herrick, one of the deaconesses of the M. E. Church, have lent their aid in making the meetings so successful. Mr. Deering preached last evening to a tremendous crowd. The services will be continued through the coming week. Tomorrow morning Rev. Mr. Thomas will conduct services. In the evening there will be a jublec and song service. The choir will reader a special musical programme and will be assisted by the well-known cornetist, George Kurswill. It is anticipated that the attendance to-morrow evening will exceed that of any of the previous meetings.

At the annual meeting of the Carondelet Milling Directory yesterday a dividend of 6 per cent was declared.

Night Watchman Ed Murphy of Engine Co. No. 2 caught a runaway horse on Broadway and Krauss street about 6:30 o'clock last evening and had his right foot badly lacerated in doing so. The owner of the rig refused to give Mr. Murphy his name or address.

An alarm from box 112 at 10:30 o'clock this morning called out Engine Company No. 2 to extinguish a blaze in the smoke-house of Jacob Martin, No. 6207 South Broadway. The interior of the building including quite a supply of sausages, hams, etc., was tetally destroyed. The fire was due to a barrel of grease becoming ignited. The damage is estimated considerable attention on account of the prominence of the parties involved in the suit. Patrick Coyle, an old resident of this locality, lived in a frame cottage near the Vulcan Iron Works for fifteen years. When the mill was in operation, Coyle ran a saloon in the basement of the bouse. The mill shut down, thereby causing Coyle also to close up his business. A few weeks ago Mr. Coyle decided to move to Venice, Ill., and there sta Terry Bros. report the sale of a six-room two-story brick house and 35x128 feet of ground at No. 274 Hutger street for $2,900 to D. F. Moloney, Superintendent for the Municipal Electric Light Co. Mr. Terry says Mr. Moloney talks of buying three other similar houses in the same block for an investment. He will live in the one he bought.

C. B. Nicholls reports the sale of 60x185 feet of ground situate on the north side of Clemens avenue, 100 feet west of Goodfellow, at $23 at foot, from M. Rounds to Sanford G. Scarritt.

Geo. N. Truesdale & Co. report the sale of a five-room cottage house on the south side of Theodosia avenue, near Union, to Adciph Geiseke for $1,500. This was the property of Mr. Geo. N. Truesdale, who sold it to Mr. Gelseke for a home.

Also a five-rom cottage on the south side of Theodosia avenue, near Union, to Adciph Geiseke for a home.

Also a five-rom cottage on the south side of Theodosia avenue, near Union, to Arthur disconting he had been enticed into a game of poker dice in the saloon at the northesst corner of dice in the saloon at the northesst corner of dice in the saloon at the northesst corner of die in the saloon at the northesst corner of Seventh and Elm street, and had been systematically robbed of $150 by John Eckerle, the proprietor of the place, and one Charles Roseberger, a hanger on. Harrington insted that the men had used loaded dies. Detectives Dotzman and Smith of headquarters were sent out and arrested Eckerie at the saloon. Roseberger lives at 118 South Seventh street but could not be found.

The Dalton Insurance Case.

FATT RIVER Mass. Nov. 15 -- An Inspecto or a New York life insurance company is investigating the case of Edward T. Dalton who was insured in June for $2,500 and died of consumption three months after. In less than a month after taking out the policy Dalthan a month after taking out the policy Dai-ton was attarked with hemorrhage and stated that his life was insured, and that he had told one of the dectors that one of his lungs was gone at the time he was examined, but the latter, a well known physician, passed him. He would not pay his assessments, and a con-tractor named Greeney, who paid them, new claims the money.

Mr. William H. Sayward, the Secretary of the National Builders' Association, is in the city, stopping at the Southern. He is making a trip through the West, visiting the various a trip through the West, visiting the various Exchanges to examine into the general condi-tion of the association and keep himself posted on the work. He visited the Mechan-icas' Exchange this morning and met there a number of the most prominent builders of the city. Mr. Saywerd will go west from here and then return to his home in Boston.

An employe went into one of the dark room at Cramer's dry plate works on Shenandoah street, between Buena Vista and Second Carondelet avenue, about 1:45 o'clock yes terday afternoon, and seeing the electric light, thought the establishment was on fire, and sent in an alarm.

THE execution of BIRCHALL was not pleasant reading, but it was news, and left nothing for this morning's papers to tell about it.

MAJ. McKinley's remark that the people do not understand the new tariff law appears to be a reflection on the wisdom of Speaker REED's great act of shutting. off debate on the measure.

THE shades of the great orators of the past, whose speeches are in danger of falling into oblivion, will rejoice over the news that there is still a chance tha INGALLS may be returned to the Senate.

THE remark of Secretary BLAINE that the adoption of the McKinley law would prevent any man of sense from taking the Republican nomination for the Presidency makes the Blaine hope of the party a forlorn hope.

REPUBLICAN organs which are howling about BLAINE and reciprocity as the twin hopes of the party for victory in 1892, seem to have forgotten that a reciprocity clause was put into the McKinley law for the purpose of wheedling the voters into accepting it, but it failed to wheedle.

Among the distinguished guests seated around the speakers' table at the Thurman banquet was the Hon, JOHN J. O'NEILL. progress and party benefits have not compensated for the personal sacrifices and the seal of popular condemnation has been indelibly impressed upon it as a revolutionary device. Even as an expedient of practical politics it was a failure, as the work of the session clearly shows.

If the Democrats should have a majority should be shameless enough to let a passing party exigency reverse the position which they have so loudly and strenuously naintained on the quorum question, there would still be little temptation to stultify themselves and disgust the country by adopting REED's tactics. His experiment has shown them how the invention disappointed and defeated the inventors, and the popular verdict that the old way, sanctioned and sustained by all the tests of a hundred years past, is the safest and best.

With a majority so large as they will have in the next House, and containing so many accomplished and experienced parliamentarians, the Democrats should be able to frame a set of rules which future Congresses will retain through many years of party mutations, and yet put a reasonable limit to purely obstructive tactics. But these rules should recognize and enforce the bed-rock principle that the defeat of minority legislation is not obstruction but a legitimate, wholesome and conservative defense of popular rights. The right of one-fifth of the members present to  demand a roll-call quorum and prevent the passage of a measure by any number of yeas less than a majority of the whole House must be asserted and preserved as a precious inheritance.

THE Democratic candidates for Auditor, Attorney-General, Clerk of the Supreme Court and Chief of the Bureau of Statistics, all received pluralities of more than 20,000 in Indiana, and the plurality of the Democratic nominee for Judge of the Supreme Court was 21.252. The candidates for Secretary of State and Superintendent of Public Instruction came out a little be-

THE GREAT SCIENTIST DISCUSSES HIS EXPERIMENTS.

THE GREAT is that the experimental work has not yet ever, that the curative lymph itself can now obtained from Dr. Libbertz, whose address is No. 28 Lueneberger strasse, Berlin.

The lymph is described as consisting of a brownish transparent liquid. It is so prepared as to be proof against deterioration hen, however, it is diluted with water to of only three in the next House, and the necessary degree for use the matter is liable to decay. It is necessary, therefore, that the attenuations should be perfectly sterilized by heat and preserved in wadding covering or epared with a solution of phenott 50 per entage strong. When taken into the stomach the curative matter proves to have no effect. It must be applied sub-cutaneously by means of a valveless syringe. The kind of syringe recommended by Prof. Koch is one furnished with a small hollow rubber ball. This syringe approved itself to him during his bactileriological experiments. Its merit is against it should be a sufficient that it can be easily and surely rinsed with warning to all future deliberative bodies absolute alcohol and kept in a perfectly aseptic condition. In thousands of cases, he save where it has been used for subcutaneous in jections, not a single abscess resulted.

One of the persons who have benefited from Prof. Koch's treatment was a sufferer from bronchial tuberculosis. The patient had a swelling in one knee which had for a long me been very painful. The doctors who watched the case assert that the reactive effect following the injection of the lymph proved that the tubercular process existed in

"When the curative matter is applied to "When the curative matter is applied to a patient the usual course is to inject it under the skin of the back, between the shoulder-blades and in proximity to the loins. The experiments show that human beings are much more susceptible to the effects of the new substance than are guines pigs, which have been largely used in the course of investigations. Two cubic continueters of the fluid applied to a guines my produced little, if any. THE FIRST EXPERIMENT.

THE FIRST EXPERIMENT.

Prof. Kock experimented with the fluid upon his own body, and describes the effect: He ejected 25-100ths of a cubic centimeter of the fluid under the skin of his upper arm. Three or four hours after this injection was made he experienced a contraction of the limbs and a marked feeling of iassitude. At the same time he felt a desire to cough, together with difficulty of breathing. These symptoms increased rapidly, and in the fifth hour he experienced an unusually violent rigor. The shivering lasted for nearly an hour and was accompanied with nausea and vomiting. The temperature of his body rose to 39.6 deg. centigrade. After a period of twelve hours the symptoms began to abate. The temperature of the body declined and on the following day resumed its normal degree. The heaviness of the limbs and the feeling of lassitude, however, continued for some days, during which time the point on his arm at which the injection was made continued to be painful and remained red.

The experiments so far conducted show that hind, with pluralities of only 19,579 and 19,873 respectively. The net* Democratic majority on Congressmen was 22,244. The President appealed to his own State for an indorsement of his policy and this was her answer.

The Farmers' Alliance members of the Illinois Legislature, who hold the balance of power on the Senatorial election, say that they are unpledged to any candidate and will use their advantageous positions made continued to be painful and remained red.

The experiments so far conducted show that the lowest limit of effective strength of the full in a healthy human body is 1-l00th of a cubic centimeter. When this amount is applied to a healthy human subject it produces little or no reaction. The same result follows when the full of this strength is applied to diseased persons who are suffering from other than tuberculous affections; but in persons affected with tuberculous is the same quantity produces a strong general and local reaction. The general reaction consists of an attack of deys, which usually begins with shivering, and, in some instances, even to 41 deg. and, in some instances, even to 41 deg. Centigrade. At the same time pains in the timbs are noticeable. The patient coughs, experiences much irritation and great exthe limbs are noticeable. The patient coughs, experiences much irritation and great exhaustion. Some patients also suffer nausea and vomiting. In some cases there is noticed a slight leteric (jaundice-like) coloring, or exanthema, resembling measies, on the chest or neck. The symptoms just described begin to manifest themselves four or five hours after the injection of the curative substance. They last from twelve to fifteen hours. The patient is not much afterted by the attack induced by the fluid and, after it is over, feels comparatively well, even better, in fact, than before the injection.

the fluid and, after it is over, feels comparatively well, even better, in fact, than before the injection.

The second, or local, reaction produced by the injection of the fluid in a patient suffering from tuberculosis can best be observed in persons whose tuberculous affections are visible, as, for instance, in the case of persons suffering from tubulos. The changes which ensue in these cases show, in a surprising manner, the specifically anti-tuber culous effect of the remedy. Within a few hours after an injection of the fluid has been made under the skin of the back, the lupus sores begin to swell and redden. During the fever the patient experiences, as already described, the swelling; the reddening of the aores increases, until finally the lupus issues assume in places a dark brown that and a necrotic coadition. After the subsidence of the fever the swelling of the lupus sores gradually decreases, and possibly disappears altogether within two or three days. Meanwhile, however, the lupus centers have the air. These incrusiations gradually form into scales which fall off after two or three weeks.

In some instances the effect just described by exuding serum, which dries up as it resches the air. These incrustations gradually form into scales which fall off after two or three weeks.

In some instances the effect just described is produced after a single injection of the curative matter, when a red, smooth scar is left. These changes are absolutely limited in extent to such portions of the skin as are clearly recognized as lupus. In tuberculesis of the lymphatic glands, bore articulations, etc., these local reactions are less striking, but are still clearly perceptible to the eye and touch. In these cases there is awelling of the parts affected and more pain than lupus patients suffer, while in the parts adjacent to the diseased centers the surface also becomes red. The reaction produced in the internal organs, especially the lungs, when the curative substance is injected is not, of source, open to observation apart from the increased expectoration and count.

In all the experiments after the first injections, if any inberculous process existed in the body, the appearances after the first injections, if any inberculous process existed in the body, the appearances already described supervexed. Absolutely no exception was noted whenever a dose amounting to libuth part of a cubic centimeter of the substance had been applied. One may assert with confidence, therefore, that the remedy may be considered an indispensable auxiliary to diagnosed by its use, if positive information of the nature of the diagnosed hills in debtful cases inciplent phthisis can positively be diagnosed. Moreover in cases of lung or joint tuberculosis, which have apparently passed off, it will be possible, by the use of the new substance, to assertain with certainly diagnosed. Moreover in cases of lung or joint tuberculosis, which have apparently passed off, it will be possible, by the use of the new substance, to assertain with certainly defended for the substance of the enemy will be necessary to determine this question.

The curative proposities of the new ramedy proved. Further fluid may be applied in rapidly increased doses.

After the patient has been under treatment for a period of three weeks a dose or the fluid of 500 times the strength of the original dose can be applied, for at the beginning, when a large quantity of living tuberculous tissues exists, a small quantity of the remedy suffices to produce a strong reaction, but each succeeding injection causes the disappearance of a certain quantity of tissue capable of reaction. It naturally follows, therefore, that increased doses are necessary to obtain the same degree of reaction. As soon as patients treated with increased doses experience as little reaction as non-tuberculous people it may be assumed that all tuberculous tissue open to reaction is dead. Whether this conclusion is correct, time will show. For the present, however, Prof. Roch is convinced that this conclusion is a sound one.

Prof. Koch is convinced that this conclusion is a sound one.

THE DOSES.

In all cases of iupus so far treated the amount of fluid injected has been, in the first instance, 1-100th part of a cubic centimeter. Time has been allowed for the reaction to take its full course. After a period of from one to two weeks a second injection of the same amount has been made. This treatment has continued until the reaction grew weaker and finally ceased. In two cases of lupus of the face the sores after three or four injections became accarred and presented a smooth surface. Each one of these cases had suffered for many years and had been treated by other methods without beneficial result.

Persons suffering with tuberculous of the lymphatic glands, bones or joints have been treated with precisely the same success. There has been rapid healing in the milder cases and cases of recent development of the disease, while in severer cases the improvement, while slower, has been steady. Fatients with pronounced tuberculosis of the lungs have proven far more susceptible to the remedy than those suffering with surgical tubercular affections.

Consumptives have in almost every instance manifested a strong reaction on greatly reduced deces.

courred. Thereupon the dose was applied daily until no further reaction courred. Then, when the same dose was about the same dose was about the same dose of 2-1000th parts of a cubic centimeter or even with 1-1000th part. From this small ineiplent dose one can advance to such quantities as the patient can easily bear. In the experiments that have been conducted consumptives have accordingly first received a subcutaneous injection of 1-1000 part of a cubic centimeter. Then, when the temperature increased, the same dose was applied daily until no further reaction occurred. Thereupon the dose was doubled, two 1-1,000th parts of a fcubic centimeter being injected regularly until again no reaction occurred. This method was continued with almost always an increase of 1-1,000th part of a subje centimeter, or almost 2-1,000th part of a cubic continued with almost always an increase of 1-1,000th part of a cubic centimeter, or almost 2-1,000ths up to 1-100th part and so on upward. It this way the patient would be brought to take very high doses almost without fever, and almost imperceptibly to himself. Consumptive patients who are still fairly strong reach increased doses much more quickly, and favorable results follow with corresponding rapidity.

Ing rapidity.

COUGRING.

As a general rule the coughing and expectoration are increased somewhat after the first injections. Then they become gradually less, and, in the most favorable cases, will ultimately wholly disappear. In the cases experimented upon under the driection of Prof. Roch, the expectorations gradually lost their purulent property and assumed a mucous character. The number of bacilli expelled manally decreases only when the expectoracharacter. The number of bacilii expelled usually decreases only when the expectorations begin to assume the mucous appearance. The bacilii then disappear entirely for a time, but on occasions again appear until expectoration totally ceases. At the same time night sweats cease, the patients begin to look better and increase in weight. Patients who have been treated in the early stages of phthis have been freed from morbid symptoms within from four to six weeks, when they may be regarded as healed.

Consumptives with large cavities in their longs will probably only experience benefit from the new remedy in exceptional cases, though most cases show temporary improvement.

nent. Prof. Koch deprecates the mechanical and Indiscriminate application of the remedy. He holds that it would be preferable that the treatment should be applied in suitable institutions, where careful observation would be possible. He says that sufficient experience possible. He says that sufficient experience has not yet been collected regarding tuberoulosis of the brain and the larynx and military tuberculosis to justify the expression of any opinion in regard to the efficacy of the remedy. In all cases Prof. Kooh emphasizes the mecessity of early treatment. Only in incipient tages of disease, he declares, can the remedy fully develop its efficiency.

Crowding to Berlin.

London, Nov. 15.—A number of censump-tives have started from London for Berlin to consult Dr. Koch, and, if possible, obtain treatment with his new remedy for tubercutreatment with his new remedy for tubercu-lesis. The Lancet warns these patients that it will not be safe for them to spend the winter in the climate of Berlin. The admission by Prof. Koch that his remedy is probably pow-eriess to effect a cure in advanced cases has dashed the hopes of thousands who had per-mitted themselves to believe in the exagger-ated secounts first circulated as to the unlim-ited efficacy of the mysterious lymph.

BURGLAR ANFORD.

Traced by Detectives and Found in the Ohio

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 .- A prisoner who is accused of committing a burgiary in the house of Joseph Cohen at No. 176 East Seventy-nint street five years ago was brought to this city by Detectives Hogan and Vallely late on Thursday night and locked up. He is Daniel Anford, alias Charles Bohan. In this city he was known as Anford and lived in the house adjoining Mr. Cohen's. On the night of April 17, 1855, he crept from a window of his home to a window of Mr. Cohen's house and entered a room in which Miss Charlotte Cohen was sleeping. Passing through that reom he entered Mr. Cohen's bedchamber and ransacked it thoroughly without awakening the merchant. After getting diamonds and jewels valued at $2,500 and stealing $150 in cash from Mr. Cohen's pockets, the thief made his way back to the window at which he had entered. He made to much noise at the window and aroused Miss Cohen, who sat up in bed and screamed. Then he drew a revolver and fired twice at her. One bullet was buried in the bed citches and the other struck the head of the bed. The young to find out the cause of the house were trying to find out the cause of the shooting in her room the robber assayed with his booty. Anford left the city before the police got on his track. He was traced to Cleveland, and there the trail was lost. A week later Anford was completed and seat to prison. His term of imprisonment anded on I flursday and he was re-arrested on a warrant held by the two detectives who had been sent from this city to gas him. Anford has been indicted for burglisty and also for attempting te kill Miss Cohen.

A FIGHT TO THE FINISH.

CHIOAGO, Nov. 18.—The politicians have settled down to a fight to a finish for supremacy in the Illinois Legislature. It is to begin with applications for injunctions to prevent the returning board from certifying elections to the Governor and will be followed by proceedings in quo warranto to keep representatives elect from exercising the duties of legislation. Then the cases will be taken to the House in an effort to unseat those who are claimed to be ineligible. Two cases of this kind have already been unearthed. The Demoorats will make a fight against the seating of Collins of Rock Island and the Republicans ugainst the seating of Geber of Peoria.

VOTING FOR THE LADIES.

Favor of Women Delegates. Telegrams from almost every State in the Union during the past month on the subject of the vote in the Methodist Church whether women should be sent as lay delegates to the national conference of the church show that the majority of the congregations are in favor of it. To the surprise of the Western States and conservative East are sure to be in favor of granting the ladies more privileges in the church than they now enjoy. There are some States, however, where the vote has been against the proposition, such as New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and others. The West, on the other hand, is very liberal, and the vote so far abows a great majority of conhand, is very liberal, and the vote so far shows a great majority of congregations in the United States west of Ohlo to be in favor of it. The proposition to place women on a footing with men in the governmental affairs of the church would not attract the attention it has if it were confined to the church itself, but the Woman Suffragists of the country have taken the vote of the liethodists so far as a proof that the tendency of the times is to woman suffrage, and that the liethodist Church, one of the most influential and progressive churches in the country is but taking a step in advance of a social revolution to come sooner or later. The Methodists do not wish the vote of the w Rules Issued by the Minister of Comperce-Spain's Representative Sounds resident Harrison on Reciprocity— Frensury Department Decision—A Voice from New Zealand—Cuba's Request,

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 .- Instead of imitating complaints of some European newspars, which complain of the purely adminisregulations of the McKinley bill, Peru. s will be seen from the text of the Peruvian ree quoted below, is enacting similar ons. American exporters to the Republic of Peru will consider as being of first importance to them the publication of his decree, which is copied from the Guia nile of Lima, Oct. 27, 1890. The Ministerial decree was translated especially for this enterprising Peruvian newspaper, which ublished it in Spanish and English.

The following law has been decreed by the Minister of Commerce, and will take official force from the lat of January, 1891:

force from the 1st of January, 1891:

1. That all cases, barrels, crates, etc., that are shipped to and from ports of the republic, besides having their net weight marked on them are to have their measurement of length, width and height all according to the metrical system, with the exception of timber, coal, wheat and from, when it arrives in loose places without packing.

2. That the administration of customs levy a fine of 20 centavos to 10 soles for each cage, crate, barrel, etc., that is not marked in accordance with the precedent article, from Nov. 1, next; for exports, and from Jan. 1, 1891 for all imports to the republic.

3. That the Customs-house officials in unloa ing make note in their general discharging sheets, besides the number and mark of each package, the weight and measurement they bear, as well as the custom that may occur in compliance with article 1.

4. That the warehousmen on receiving packages weight the measurements and well-his of these, and enter them, in their respective book, and give immediate notice of all differences or failure to comply with article 1.

5. That packages whose marked weights

Spain and the United States.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 15 .- When Senot lignel Suarez Guanez, Spain's new Minister to this country, was formally introduced to President Harrison he took occasion to sound President Harrison he took occasion to sound the President on his feeling of reciprocity toward Spain, Minister Guanez said: "Spain and the United States certainly are two nations which have every reason to live in perfect harmony with each other. The international exchange of the productions and manufactures of each people is surely one of the necessary laws that are based upon the instincts and universal needs of the present day and the greater the difference between their customs, dispositions and the productions of their labor, so much the more necessary is it for nations to come closer together and to increase their exchanges. To maintain these interests and to contribute to their development shall be the object of my most solicitous cares."

ment shall be the object of the most care."

In his reply President Harrison said: "It is most gratifying that in thus entering upon your mission you express, in the name of your sovereign and of the Spanish nation, a warm desire for continued harmony of relations and intimacy of intercourse between the United States and Spain. Inspired by a like sentiment, I count upon your promised aid in developing the larger relations and the closer ties of smity and commerce which both nations desire for their reciposal advantage."

Of Interest to Importers.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 .- The Treasury Department has decided that in the collection of ustoms duties no allowance can be made for damage to any imported merchandise, not keepting potatoes, imported into the United States on or after the lat of August, 1890, but that the importer thereof may, within ten cases after entry, abandon to the United States any portion included in any invoice and be relieved from the payment of the duties on the portion so abandoned, provided that this portion shall amount to 10 per cent of the total value of or the quantity of the invoice, and that such portion shall be separated from the remaining portion in the presence of customs officers.

JOHN REILLY.
The fact that her recreant lever had robbed her for the purpose, perhaps, of paying the expense of marrying her rival, was more than she could bear, and she broke down and wept. Still, she would not have prosecuted had not her father insisted on it. Then, by his direction, she went to the police court as stated. The warrants were issued and given to Detectives Rorke and Relieigh. The detectives concluded that the best place to find Relly would be at Delia Lee's house on Hinks street. This conclusion proved correct, Rateigh obtained permission from Miss Lee to go through the house as a sanitary inspector. On the top floor he found Relly in company with the girl. He placed him under arrest, and he is now locked up. He will be arraigned before Justice Tighe to-day.

AN OFFICIAL REPORT.

Bonny's official report is dated from the Arab village, Unaria, Aruwimi River, July, 1888. In the Bonny says: "After Stanley left, the Arabs followed him closely, attacking Barttelot's father, dated in August, he spologizes for the brevity of his former note announcing the Major's death, on the ground that he desired to open communication with Tippoc Tib and the Congo State quickly, fearing a rising in the camp. In telling of Maj. Barttelot's bringing chains from Stanley Falls for slaves, he says: "You may not like to hear this, but the facts are in possession of the Congo State suthorities, and it is best for you to be prepared to meet any statement." He here described the death and burial of Barttelot precisely as he did to Stanley. In conclusion, he describes the trial and execution of Sanga, expresses the belief that Bartwick was insane and gives an account of Stanley's arrival.

LONDON, Nov. 15 .- Herbert Ward is prepar ing an article for the Formightly Review which, it is stated, will be in the nature of a severe attack upon Stanley. Ward is smarting under Stanley's intimation that he misused his op-portunities with the expedition to feather his own nest, and he will doubtless give Stanley all the shot he has in his locker.

Secretary Proctor Wires Gen. Merritt From Leuisville to That Effect. Gen. Merritt this morning received a telegram from Secretary of War Proctor dated from Louisville, Ky., stating that he would arrive in St. Louis Monday morning next, would go direct to the Southern Hotel and would leave for the East in tternoon, Gen, Merritt stated that it was extremely probable that Mr. Proctor would visit and inspect Jefferson Barracks during his few hours' stay, and in view of that fact it was difficult to see when the time could be spared for the Secretary to visit the Merchants' Exchange, although such a visit might be arranged. There would be no official ceremonies of military reception should Jefferson Barracks be visited, owing largely, Gen. Merritt said, to the fact that it was a recruiting post only, and the raw troops stationed there would be unable to make the necessary military display. In discussing Secretary Proctor's round of visits since leaving Washington, Gen. Merritt said he should endeaver on Monday to induce the Secretary of War to so far change his plans as to fulfill a promise made two years ago to Gen. Merritt to visit the posts in the Indian Territory. it was extremely probable that Mr. Proctor

LEE INVESTIGATION.

The Lee Investigating Committee of the School Board will have probably its final

School Board will have probably its final meeting this afternoon and decide upon the nature of the report to be made to the board. The taking of testimony was concluded at the meeting last Saturday, though Condon requested that other witnesses becalled. The committee asked to be informed of their names and what they were expected to testify to. Condon gave the committee the information and as his witnesses would not apparently, testify to anything of material importance, the committee said the request would be taken under advisement. It will probably decline to call any more witnesses. Of course the finding of the committee cannot be anticipated except in this respect, that whether Lee is found guilty or acquitted be will certainly be reprimanded for his failure to keep a record of the transactions of his office.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM

POLITICAL CHARACTER OF THE CHANGES MADE IN PRESIDENTIAL POST-OFFICES.

The Result of a Special Committee's Investi gations - Clarkson and Wanamake ored-Answers to Inquiries Sent Out to asters - Improved Naval Equip. ment-Notes From the National Cap.

tee of the Civil Service Reform League, of which W. D. Foulke to chairman, appointed to inquire into the condition of the federal has made a supplemental report in regard to the political character of the changes made in presidential post-offices. The committees' estions in regard to the politics of the postmasters removed and those appointed elicited the following results: Out of 487 answers re-ceived in which the information was given upon this point, it appears that in 427 cases the postmaster removed or resigned was a crat, in one case a Prohibitionist, in cumbents being women, it was stated that they belonged to no political party. There three resignations and three regarding the politics of the postmasters apinted, it appears that 510 were Republicans, one was a Knight of Labor, one an independent and one a Democrat. The Democrat was Samuel P. Burris of Talladega, Ala., of whom cause I was a Democrat, and not in sympathy with the administration. It is believed that my successor, being a protectionist, was in sympathy with the administration and would support it." The uniformity with which ocrats were removed and Republicans appointed, says the report, shows pretty in the making of these changes. It appeared in some cases that quite full inquiries were made as to the political faith of candidates for appointment before their commissions were

A n justance of this is the investigation by a pest-office inspector into the political faith of Robert O, Ballantyne, appointed pestmaster at Brackettsville, Texas. The employment of Post-office Inspectors for this political work by the Government, the report says, carries with its own criticism.

To inquiries as to the political services ren dered by the new appointees in the last cam-96 abawers. In 155 cases it was stated that no services were rendered, six cases were dis-puted, while in 335 cases, a little over 63 per cent the new appointees were active in party no services were rendered, six cases were disputed, while in 335 cases, a little over 63 per cent the new appointees were setive in party work.

The committee quotes letters written by Representatives Morse of Massachusetts, Cogswell of Massachusetts, Perkins of Kansas and others to show that removals and appointments were made on various pretexte, which, in the opinion of the committee, were intended to cover political reasons. An instance to which particular attention is paid is the removal of E. M. Lockwood of Burlington, Kan. Mr. Lockwood received a letter from Representative Harrison Kelly saying that his successor would likely be appointed within three weeks and offering him the opportunity of resigning. Mr. Lockwood did not resign and he was removed. Squire M. Lane was appointed to the place. He immediately appointed Mr. Kelly's daughter to a place in his office and afterward made her Assistant Postmaster. It is clear to the committee, says the report, that the motive for the numerous changes, more than 64 per cent of all the presidential postmasters, has been in great measure political.

Mr. Clarkson, in an interview sent through the United Press to all the leading newspapers of the country, is reported as saying: "The President has made no removals except for cause, for delinquency, inefficiency or violation of law. He has refused to make any changes for partisan reasons."

"Our Inquiries," says the committee, "have led us to the conviolition that this declaration cannot be true; and, in our opinion, it would have been more just to have acknowledged the existence of political influences. This would have involved an inconsistency with the promises of the last Republican pintform, that the spirit and purpose of the Civil Service law should be observed in all executive appointments. But where the fact is as clearly established as it is in this case, the the avowal of such inconsistency would have been far better than the attempt to conceal it by giving reasons for the changes which in point of fact are no has in public speeches endeavored to discredit the system to which his party pledged itself. His appointment as First Postmaster General gave him, we believe, control of a larger amount of patronage than that of any other officer appointed by the President. The opposition of the Postmaster General to Civil Service reform has been less candid, but it has been no less intense. There are circumstances which have occurred since he has been in office clearly showing his hostility to the platform of his party in regard to the reform.

All but three or four Pa., yesterday morning. All but three or four of the injured are resting easy, and the physicians are hopeful of their recovery. The remains of Henry D. Minot were shipped to Boston last night. Mr. S. H. Angell, whose wife was killed in the wreck, arrived from his home in Washington, D. C., this morning. Mrs. Angell's remains were so horribly mangled that he was unable to recognize them, and it was only by her jewelry that he was able to identify the body. He will take the remains to California for burial.

The investigation by the railroad efficials into the causes of the accident will be continued to-day. From the facts now at hand the disaster appears to have been the result of unfortunate circumstances rather than from errors of management or the careless-ness of subordinates. Fell Into a Beiling Vat.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 15 .- The Grievane Committee of the Pennsylvania railroad emompaints of the delegates from the various divisions of the two systems west of this city have been received and acted on, and on Monday they will be presented to the officials. The principal difficulty to adjust is the matter of hours constituting a day's run or a day's pay. Owing to the various differences between the divisions the men are compelled to work all the way from ten to fourteen hours, according to the length of the section run. This is where the greatest difficulty arises, and it is proposed to demand either ten or eleven hours a day's run, and when longer time than this is required to cover a division extra time will be allowed. There is also complaint against certain division superintendents on the Southwest System which the men will ask to be

AMONG THE BROKERS. A Fair Market-Stocks Sold and Prices Ob-

There was more trading than usual on the Mining Exchange, but prices generally were weak.

Mickey Breen exhibited more activity than any other stock and almost held its own in spite of heavy sales. The first transfer was made at $1.40, but after 800 shares had changed hands the price fell to $1.3742. At that figure only 100 shares were sold, and then 200 shares brought $1.35. A slight recovery then took place, and 800 shares changed hands, more being wanted.

Adams opened at $1.85, but after 300 shares had been sold dropped to $1.84\text{the latter price the transfers amounted to 200 shares, and more could have been bought.

Elizabeth was strong, advancing to $2.30, at which 300 shares changed hands, the stock being offered at $2.3242. American was weak and fell to $5, at which 200 shares sold.

Sliver Age was firm at $2.3215, and 200 shares brought this price. One hundred La Union seid at 5, and 4½ was paid for 400 shares; 100 Central Silver brought 21%.

Ben Edwards sold 10 shares of the stock of the Missouri Plate Glass Co. for the account of whom it might concern. The stock brought $100 a share.

feeting of the Southwestern Asso Promotion-Other News of the Railways, The Rate Committee of the Southwestern Railway and Steamship Association is having uite an extended session at Chairman Fairthorn's office. The members of the committee expected to get through with their abors last evening and adjourn, but when the ime for adjournment arrived yesterday they found themselves still very far from the end of their work. Consequently when the meeting adjourned last night it was to go in session again this morning at 10 o'clock. When 1 o'clock arrived, the hour for taking dinner, the committee instead of adjourning had their meals brought to them and remained in session all day. The members are discussing the advisability of holding a session Monday, so that it is not likely that the committee will continue its labors to-day.

A Deserved Promotion. W. W. Kent, the General Passenger Agent issued a circular giving notice of the promotion of Mr. H. A. Chicago Market Letter.

By Private Wire to J. P. Grier:
Chicago, Nov. 15.—The wheat market closed steady. The financial advices from London are of a more hopeful tone, and with any permanent improvement in this direction, May wheat at around $1.0 f$1.01 should be a purchase, either for investment or for a quick turn upwards.

The fact of such a house as the old banking house of Baring Bres. being in financial difficulties and in need of £11,000,000 for three years to carry them and their clerks over, shows the present strain on the financial world. Until this arrangement is completed we will be subject to such finctuations as we have had yesterday and to day. Present prices are on a shipping basis and buying should be sate.

Corn strong towards the close. We think it and May pork too high.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 15.—The feeling on the board to-day has at times been quite panicky, in consequence of the very bad financial, outlook in this country and in England. This is not to be wondered at when it becomes even possible to talk of the great firm of Baring Bros. of London in connection with financial weakness, and it is indeed alarming when the news is confirmed that it has been necessary for the associated bankers to help them out with a guarantee fund of 10,000,000 pounds sterling.

Wheat showed greater weakness than any other article, indicating the very large old long interest which has been hanging on for so long a time. On article, indicating the very barge old long interest which has been hanging on for so long a time. On the break to 91c Demanter shorts covered very freely, and there were indications that no so two of our best operators were buying for long account. The shake out has been so general that we should have a reaction, if finance on the state of the state of

ON 'CHANGE,

Wheat-The demoralized stock market, the statement having Bros. of London were in trouble, and numerous disquieting rumors regarding the financial situation, with estimates of a $5,000,-000 decrease to show in the business when the bank statement was made public, knocked out all the buil feeling and confidence that developed yesterday. There was some attempt to sustain values early in the day, but breaking markets everywhere and the demoralisation in wall street was too much for the start buyers liquid the demoralisation in wall street and too much for the start buyers liquid and may affect the decline got fairly started it was a wild, clamerous rush to sell that rushed Dec. down 2½c and May 2½c below the top rates. There were no influences outside money matters that had any effect. Cables were dull receipts only fair and clearances small, but these were lost sight of in the face of financial troubles. When the bank statement was posted showing over $1,700,000 increase in reserves instead of a decrease, a decidedly butter feeling was at once developed and the effect was seen in a quiex recovery. The feeling, however, was still nervous and unsettled and though not reasening the panicly tone of the and though not reasening the panicly tone of the and though not reasening the panicly tone of the and though not reasening the panicly tone of the seatile that below yesterday.

As Thanksgiving day is not far off. the majority of shippers are no doubt getting their turkeys ready for market, and from all appearances there promises to be a good to be a good be and to be a good back for one or two days previous to Thanksgiving and run chances of glutting the market. This will give tde local dressers and shippers ample time for preparing and shipping the birds to the various outside markets. The market to-day was firm and all offerings were in steady request; chickens, ducks and geese continued unchanged, though there was a fair demand for Saturday; dressed poultry was in moderate request at steady rates. The condition of the game received was not as good as for the past two or three days, as the late weather has been against the market; the arrivals of quall and rabilits continued liberal, but were about steady in price; we note an improvement in mailard ducks under a good demand, but only meaned a good as a liberal of the good demand of the good demand as a later of the past was a slower call; dairy lightly offered and firm; near-by roll meeting a fair demand. Cheese quiet but steady. Eggs holding firmiv. Apples easier, firm and unchanged; demand unsupplied on the shipping and best oating grades. Grapes moved moderately under a fair demand. A car of fine Florida Indian River oranges was received late yesterday. Potatoes were firm, but unchanged. Onlone steady, but quiet. Cabbage quiet and dull.

Apples—The choice and fancy varieties continue scarce, and the demand is unsupplied. TROUBLES OF AN AUTHORESS.

The Result of Eva Katharine Clapp's Suit for Allmony.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 15 .- Eva Kath arine Clapp of Athol, Mass., who is said to be a handsome woman of 30 years of age and an authoress of national reputation, vesterday against her divorced husband, Tilgham H. Mink, for $7,000, which was awarded her in the Chicago divorce court is May last. Thirteen years ago Mrs. Mink, who was then freesh from a New England Female College, met and loved Mr. Mink in Chicago and afterward married him. Soon afterward Mink was sued for breach of promise by a former housekeeper, to whom the jury gave $5,000. Mrs. Mink and her husband lived together for several years and then parted. She alleged that he had abused her and her confidence. She went back to her Athol home and devoted herself to literature and wrote her first novel. Last spring, however, she began processings for divorce from her husband in Chicago, and the records of the Cook County Courts showed a decree was granted her on the ground of cruel and barbarous treatment and Mink's infidelity with his present housekeeper. Mink, it is said, is worth $30,000 and is a member of one of Allentown's leading families. In awarding the divorce the Chicago court decreed $7,000 damages to Mrs. Mink in lieu of a weekly alimony, if being the custom of the Chicago courts to decree lump sums of alimony, and permitted Mrs. Mink to resume her maiden name. Mrs. Mink, or Miss Eva Katharine Clapp, then resumed her literary work, and has just completed another novel, Copies of these novels, her counsel said yesterday, will be offered in evidence in the suit to show the condition of her mind before and after her divorce. the Chicago divorce court in May last. SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 15 .- Carroll Cook, a young lawyer, has for a year and a half abstained from liquor of all kinds. Previously he was a hard drinker, and was surely drifting to ruin. The cause of his temperance developed at a dinner, where he found some difficulty in eating a piece of pie. He inquired if there had been liquor used in the composition, and was told it was brandy. Then he explained that a hypnotial of his acquaintance had hypotized his palate so that it was impossible for him to drink any kind of liquor.

When the Maryland Jockey Club lease Pimileo, in 1870, the club bought an additional five acres of ground and erected a magnificent club-house, at a cost of $10,000. The appointments cost $4,000, the grounds $5,000 and the improvements probably $2,000. In those days the "Land of Dirie" flourished as the greatest race course in the country, and America's greatest turfmen were wont to gather at this handsome structure after a day's sport and discuss horse. Such men as August Belmont, A. Cammack, Pierre Lorillard, George Lorillard, D. D. Withers, A. J. Cassatt, H. T. Hemboldt, J. T. K. Lawrence, Berry Wall, Senator Joe Beck, Tom Ochil tree, Barney Aaron, John Morris, Claremont Rogers and W. Penrose have sat in its rooms, and if the handsomely decorated walls had tongues they could tell of many interesting scenes. The Dwyer brothers stood on the portice and watched their first race horse battle for gold and glory. And Rhadamanthus and Vigil were the cracks of those days, and many of the old patrons of Pimlico teday remember the sight of Phil Dwyer standing on the broad steps leading to the portice watching these two cracks score down the line. Walker Blaine visited the club house about three months before his death; and it was in the handsome cafe that "Joe" Blackburn guiped down a tumblerful of brandy to caim his nerves after the great Ten Brocek had been defeated by Parole, and the Kentucky "Colonels" had lost a mist of money. tree, Barney Aaron, John Morris, Claremont Owners Should Handle Horses. Charles S. Pelham-Clinton, an Englisman writes the following criticism to the New York Herald on the horse show now in progress at the Madison Square Garden: The prejudice that exists among owners against riding and driving their own animals in the ring is unaccountable. It stands to reason that if an animal or a pair have been regularly ridden or driven by one man, and are suddenly handed over to the tender mercies of another under particularly trying circumstances, they will not act up to their usual standard.

cles of another under particularly trying circumstances, they will not act up to their usual standard.

The touch between horse and man is wanting, and many a good animal never gets a ribbon who would otherwise be a prize winner. Not one groom out of a dozen has hands, and his idea of getting over a fence is persuasion alone, and that persuasion not of hand, but of whipcord and steel. Compare Mr. Foxhall Keene's handling of a horse in the ring with that of most of the grooms and the difference is easily seen. The theory that no horse likes to jump is an erroneous one. The horse is a generous animal, and if he understands what he is required to do will try his best in nine cases out of ten. He is also high strung and nervous. All the more reason when in the ring he should be handled temperately and quietly. Apart from this, however, the presence of owners in the ring is desirable in every way. It adds vastiv to the general interest, as every one would rather see a good horse ridden or driven by his owner than by a groom, and the satisfaction of winning a ribbon cannot help being enhanced by person-groom, and the satisfaction of winning a ribtion cannot help being enhanced by personally aiding in obtaining it.

MR. CASSAT'S GOOD EXAMPLE.

The presence in the ring of Mr. A. J. Cassatt's prominence in business and social circles was a good lesson for many who, for some reason, think it bad form to appear behind their own animals, and what can be done by a man of his age can be done by a younger man.

Mr. Cassatt two years ago was in the ring driving a stepper, so it was not his first appearance, and Mr. T. T. Underhill has always shown his own animals, often with success.

Mr. W. E. D. Stokes generally drives his own Mr. W. E. D. Stokes generally drives his own horses, and there was an improvement in this respect in the tandem class, as several men occupied their own box seats. But there is ample room for improvement.

In England at the Islington shows a large number of owners are always "up," and such men as Lord Lonsdale, Lord Combermere and Lord Harrington ride their own horses. At the Hurlingham and the Raneleigh shows nine out of ten of the entries are ridden by their owners or by gentlemen, and the Peats, Lord Harrington and Mr. Kennedy would as soon think of letting their grooms ride as they would put them up at a pole ide as they would put them up at a pole

The Turcoman Herse.

There are several distinct and widely differ ent breeds of Persian horses, but the most famous is what is called the Turcoman, kept chiefly in the level districts of the country. These horses are 17 hands high or more. They are very hardy, enduring and great travelers. One of these bred and possessed by a Turcoman, in a raid of its master into Persia, made 160 miles within twenty-four successive heurs. During this time the horse drank only once, and then merely a few mouthfuls of water, while he are no food whatever. His pace throughout was an easy awinging gallop that gave no discomfort to his rider. From 100 to 120 miles per day is a very common performance with these thoroughbred horses and occasions no remark. It is owing to the great excellence of their horses that the Turcomans have been enabled so long to preserve themselves from being overun and conquered by their powerful neighbors. The Turcomans always ride stallions, while the Arabians, especially in their forays, only take marcs. Their reason for this is that in approaching an enemy stallions would smell his horses and break out in a shrill neigh. This would warn those they were seeking, "id aware of the coming of the foe, enable them to gather up instantly and escape destruction from a superior force. chiefly in the level districts of the country.

Buffalo's Running Track. It is safe to say that Buffalo will have a new racing track next season that will be credit to the name Queen City, says the Buffalo Commercial. For some time past a selecfalo Commercial. For some time past a select beyy of admirers of the fleet thoroughbreds have been discussing the advisability of constructing a race course in the Thirteenth Ward, on Seneca street, and while the organization has not been completed, enough has been done to guarantee its incorporation in the near future. The new electric street railway out Seneca street will run directly to the main entrance.

It was decided best to build a new track and form a new company instead of endeavoring to negotiate for a short lease of the old Buffalo Trotting Track a few weeks in each year. It would be necessary to harrow the track to make it soft eaough for the fleet-footed runners, and in doing this it would injure it considerably for the trotters. Again, should the association decide to continue a meeting any length of time desired they can do so on their town track and give as many meetings as wished during the season.

The new enterprise will certainly beom things in Buffalo in 1891. As the city is midway between Chicago and the racing resorts down by the sea, it will be a sort of stopping-off place for the boys with their large stables. It will be no trouble to organize z stock company, as several capitalists have already announced their willingness to put their names on the list of charter members. The land is already secured and the location is simply excellent. Let the band begin to play!

Boxes for the Foot-Ball Game. Among the hubbub which is usual on the floor of the Real Estate Exchange, says the New York WORLD, Jere Johnson, Jr., yesterday wore out the usefulness son, Jr., yesterday wore out the usefulness of several healthy lemons in selling at auction the boxes for the big Thanksgiving Day foot-ball match at Eastern Park. The biggest buyers were R. B. Beaumont, A. G. Jønnings and Tyson, who bought on commission for others and for speculative purposes. Mr. Beaumont bought twelve of the thirty-eight boxes sold. Robert Bonner, Wendell Goodwin, Brayton Ives, L. L. Benedict, Herman Oelrichs and Leonard Jerome were among the Individual buyers.

The sale began at 1 o'clock and the first box offered was No. 52, the big corner box en the Yale side of the lower tier. Joan Wallace, acting for R. H. Halstead of the Stock Exchange, started the bidding at $90. Four successive bids brought the price up to $115, at which it was knocked down to Mr. Halstead. The corresponding box at the Prisectom corner was subsequently sold to A. G. Jennings of Brooklyn, for $82.50. With a few exceptions, the intermediate boxes were sold at an average of $3 per seat. The preferred boxes on the upper tier were bought by Brayton Ives and and A. G. Jennings, Mr. Ives securing the one next to the Yale "reservation" and Mr. Jennings the one set apart for Princeton. The amount realized from the sale of the thirty-eight boxes was $1,678, box No. 52, which was bought as stated for Mr. Halstead at $115, being the highest price paid, while box $1, containing only six seats, weat for the lowest amount, $20. of several healthy lemons in selling at auc-

The Pastimes Bowling Alleys. Bowling will be given a prominent place in the Pastime Gymnasium, now being built. There will be six handsome alleys laid in con crete, and their furnishings will compare favorably with any alleys in the country. A special feature will be the setting aside of several of the alleys for the use of ladies and their escorts a couple of nights a week. The ladies will have the exclusive use of the alleys also during the ladies' hours. Heretofore, when a lady who had mastered just enough of any of the different games of bowling at some any of the different games of bowling at some watering place to become enthused on this splendid exercise would return here she could find no suitable place to enjoy the game. The Eastern style of alleys, pins and balls and their style of games will probably be adopted. Comiskey's Opinions and Intentions. Charley Comiskey, Captain of the Chicago Players' League team, arrived in the city this morning from the village by the lake and going on a fishing excursion with President Von der Ahe of the Browns, J. W. Peckington and others. Comiskey is now on the best of terms with the St. Louis magnate and admits that if the Chicago Playors' Club sells out or goes under that he will probably play ball in St. Louis. He likes this city, and if he comes back will probably start in business here in addition to playing with the Browns. He was disgusted with the way the Players' League surrendered to the National League magnates. "Why," said he, "they had the National League done for and at their mercy. The National League was in such a bad way that a child could have pushed the organization over, But nothing would do the Players' League people but a compromise. An ASSOCIATION OFFICER TALKS.

An officer of that association asid this morning: "We brought Mr. Sculin to terms once before by this method, and, we propose to do it again. Last year he distinctly promised us that the Mound City Line should be an electric road by this past spring. He promised us that the Mound City Line should be an electric road by this past spring. He promised this to avoid a boycost similar to that which will open next Wednesday. Sure enough the road is an electric road to day. The wires and poles are all up, the power is ready, but the bobtail car still runs, and the mule still furnishes its motive power. I can give no reason for this except that the price of mules has been low this spring and summer, and Mr. Scullin hesitates to throw his on the market, and so uses them on the line waiting for prices to advance. This is good for Mr. Scullin butrough on the patrons of the line, and we propose to put a stop to it.

"The Railroad Committee of our association, of which Mr. Wm. C. Schutz is Chairman, has waited upon Mr. Scullin and submitted the resolution to him, but as yet he has made no reply. As a matter of fact, the nsylgators of the trans-Atlantic liners pick their route very largely by the surface temperature. For instance, if they find that an incoming vessel reports a temperature of 80 deg. in about latitude 40 deg. north they know that the easterly Guif Stream mitted the resolution to him, but as yet he has made no reply. The association will carry out its threat on Wednesday next as sure as fate unless the required change is made, and we will be supported by public sentiment ail along the line."

find that an incoming vessel reports a temperature of 80 deg. in about latitude 40 deg. north they know that the easterly Gulf Stream current is in that latitude, and they will be careful on returning to Europe not to go further north, and thus strike the Labrador current, which will be against them. They are anxious to keep on their journey east in the Gulf Stream as long as it will help them, and they therefore aim to cross the Grand Banks of Newfoundiand just where the Gulf Stream current of twenty or twenty-five miles a day will be with the vessel instead of against her. Of course every little helps in making a big record, which is what all the ocean flyers are constantly striving for. The Gulf Stream on the eastern passage also slightly dimin ishes the cost of a trip if a steamer gets into it on the Grand Banks. The large steamers burn about $50 worth of coal an hour, and the help the Gulf Stream gives the vessel in one day may amount to about $150. Last summer the northern limit of the Gulf Stream is said to have been considerably higher than usual.
